

Networked Society Symposium

Friday 11 November 2016

9am to 4:30pm

Basement theatres

Melbourne School of Design

University of Melbourne

Agenda

Time	Item
9:00am	Registration
9:30am	Welcome & Introduction Prof Thas Nirmalathas , Director of Melbourne Networked Society Institute
9:45am	Keynote William H. Dutton , Director Quello Centre, Michigan State university Power Shifts in the Networked Society: The Rise of Fifth Estate Prof Dutton will focus on the use of the Internet and related technologies in shaping an emerging Fifth Estate, composed of networked individuals able to use the Internet strategically to hold institutions, and other estates and of the Internet realm more accountable.
10:45am	Morning Tea
11:15am	Convenience vs. Privacy: the consumer's dilemma in a networked society This panel explores how the emergence of the Internet of Things, 3D printing, and the sharing economy are changing the relationship between consumers and markets. Hear from the MNSI research projects working to understand and map these fluid new landscapes of the networked society. This section will include speakers from: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Internet of Things and Consumer Privacy • Domestic 3D Printing • Mapping the Melbourne Sharing Economy 	Digital band aids: how technology is good for your health You may think VR is a platform for entertainment, but it is also making epic changes to therapeutic practices. In this session three projects will explore how new technologies and the networked society is changing healthcare. This section will include speakers from: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Telerehabilitation for Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease • Music Therapy in Virtual Environments • Remote assessment of young children with Autism Spectrum Disorders
12:30pm	Lunch

1:15pm	Breaking tradition: how new technology is transforming everything Three MNSI projects are attempting to change industries and practices with digital innovation. Speakers will discuss the role of technology in the transformation and shaping of the networked society. This section will include speakers from: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • STEM Education for Schools • The Digital Vineyard • Active Defence 	Creating an e-galitarian community in the Digital Age The internet is often heralded as a democratic platform where everyone can have a voice. However, there are challenges and scepticism surrounding this idea. Find out how three MNSI projects are making the networked society inclusive. This section will include speakers from: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Driving for Change • Wadeye IPTV • Not the only One
2:30pm	Afternoon break
2:45pm	Panel - The Value of Data in the Networked Society The Networked Society Symposium concludes with a panel discussion chaired by Institute Director, Thas Nirmalathas, examining the value and role of data within the networked society. Jodie McVernon, Chair of Data Systems and Society Research Network Frank Vetere, Director SocialNUI Kwanghui Lim, Innovation Fellow at Melbourne Networked Society Institute Victoria Palmer, Applied Ethics Fellow at Melbourne Networked Society Institute Lars Coenen, Centre for Innovation, Research and Competence in the Learning Economy at Lund University, Sweden
4:00pm	Networking Drinks
4:30pm	Close	